DETAILED ACTION

Applicant's response of 3/20/06 is entered. However, because the restriction requirement did not address all claims, and Applicant's response is technically non-responsive to the restriction requirement, and further because upon further consideration, the Examiner has determined that the restriction is not proper, the prior Restriction Requirement is withdrawn in favor of the following requirement.

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-11, drawn to a nucleotide encoding a single CD8 alpha-chain and a single gene of interest of the 20 genes of interest listed in claim 7, classified in class 536, subclass 23.1.
- II. Claims 12-17, drawn to a method of reducing immune response comprising a nucleic acid encoding a CD8 alpha chain and a gene of interest, classified in class 514, subclass 44.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I and II are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case the product may be used in a materially-different process, e.g., producing antibodies, hybridization assays, and producing proteins. Moreover, because of the distinct properties of each invention, the search and examination burden on the Examiner to search and examine any two groups together would be serious.

Because these inventions are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art in view of their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species:

(i) Applicant is required to choose a single SEQ ID NO of SEQ ID NOS: 1-28, as in claims 2-5 and 16-17; and

(ii) Applicant is required to choose a single therapeutic gene of interest of the 20 listed in claims 7 and 15.

The species are independent or distinct because each SEQ ID NO has a distinct structure, providing distinct structure and the search for one would not necessarily reveal the required art for the others. Further, the search burden for the patent office is great, due to technical limitations and demands on computer processing time. With regard to the genes of interest, they encode distinct proteins, with distinct function, and the search for one would not necessarily reveal the others, and the burden to search all the proteins at once would pose a serious burden on the Examiner. A species election is therefore required to streamline prosecution and the burden on the Examiner and on the PTO search time.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, Claims 1 and 12 are generic.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of an allowable generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

Art Unit: 1633

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
